

I find it difficult to believe the FCC would even consider such an intrusion on basic free speech rights and my ability to receive local information from whatever source I choose. The FCC should be aggressively promoting the introduction of exciting new technologies like satellite radio, not stifling their ability to offer the distribution of local information US citizens desire. Reject petition 04-160.